NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.

BY CATHERINE CHESEBRO.

I very, very often think of thee,
And of that lovely day, when we together
Through the wild woods and fields went merrily,
As blitte wert thou as that bright summer As blitted west should status, origins admin weather: No fairtest cloud flecked the clear sapphire sky,

And how those waters crept so slow and solemn To the high wall? how leading far they gushed To quickened life 'midst their own misty column? A lovelier friend or day I shall not see— Deat thou remember it—or think of me?

That dry and I and summer hours are ended:

That dry and I and summer hours are ended:

Dear love! I tread beneath another star,

We dreamed beneath one star our fate was blanded. blended.

Remember us ! the sunshine will come back-

From the far depths uprise the pearls of ocean! I have no fear for thee in weal or woe—
Thy brave young heart, thy hero-heart, I know.
Canandaigua, Septomber, 1859.

were opened by a prayer from Rev. J. H. Perry.-The Daughters then sang an ode, in excellent first Speaker. He gave some amusing illustrations of improving upon nature, in the gratification of our appetites, and showed the folly of seeking to make better or more to our liking that which God has provided, air, water, &c. He i lustrated his meaning by several chemical facts and optical truths .-Mr. B. said he considered the use of alcohol to be the greatest evil that ever afflicted the earth, that nine-tenths of all the misery around us sprung from this cause. After depicting some of the chief evils, he alluded to other unnatural appetites, especially the use of tobacco, snuffing, smoking and chawing. He had been a great smoker in his day-had puffed away sa meny as eighteen cigars in a day, but, finding that by this indulgence that he had lost his natural appetite for fruit, &c. he broke off abrupt ly. Returning to the immediate matter before them, he remarked that if every moderate drinker would at once sign the pledge and become a testotailer, all the "respectable" rum shops would be closed in a month. It was not the drunkard, the confirmed sot, who stood in the way of this reform. but the moderate tippler. He said that no man was safe from the danger of dying a drunkard, unless he became a rigid teetotaller, and spoke forcibly of the folly of self resolution, of saying, "Ob, I'm in no danger; when I find that liquor hurts me I'll leave it." Mr. B. urged mothers, wives and daughters to take hold of the work; they might seoure the triumph of temperance; their inflaence was immense, for, say what we will, we do live under petticoat government. [Laughter.] He closed by arging all to do their duty, and not wait for others to lead. Mr. B. was frequently interrupt

Another ode was sung by the Daughters, and then John B. Gough rose and delivered an excellent address. He observed that nothing was now left to prove; everybody acknowledges the justice of our cause; everybody recognizes the evil of intemperance. But he wished he could bring every individual face to face with the fearful consequences of rum drinking-he was certain that it would arouse the indignation of every heart. He dwell in a glowing manner upon the innocence and happiness of childhood in some cases, and then turned to the dark side of the picture, the rage and wretchedness in our streets; the street beggars and young pilferers among us. All this terrible degradation he traced to the effect of intoxicating drinks. It is all well to pertray the effect of a cohol upon the man, but we are too apt to forget the terrible evils that silliet the innocent womer and children within its influence. Mr. G. as is his manner, illustrated hisremarks by various anecdotes of peculiar force His chief effort was to portray the imbruting, de basing effect of drunkenness, and most fearfully did he depict those horrors. Thence he proceeded to explain the bad effect of holding drunk exness up to ridicule, on the stage, in print and in conversa tion, for by this means men are led to overlook the magnitude of the evil. After a splendid description of the value of a clear and unclouded mind, o the dignity of man as God made him, he applied to this picture the dangerous sin of despoiling this world-measuring mind and this glorious body by the use of liquor. He went on to explain how some persons became drunkards much easier than others, from difference of physical organism. He passed to a view of the way we judge of moderate drinking, not by the quantity or strength of the liquor but by its effect upon the drinker. But we lack room to follow Mr. G. FRIDAY, September 20-P.M. In Stocks the market coatinues to be very buoy ant, and the transactions are to large extent. Almost every description of farcies improved. Governments were in good demand at fair rates .-There are more outsiders in the street than we have seen for a long time, and the appearances of a considerable rise, with the usual fluctuations during the next pinety days, are so irresistible that come of the lending bears have become buils Even the Hereld, losing sight of the imminent "crisis" which has continually disturbed its digestion for the last twelve months, has fairly overleaped the "colminating point" which it has reached so often, and comes out as strong as the enthusiastic operator for a rise, with a prediction of an extraordinary advance in fancies and large profits to holders-a prediction right in the teeth of all its predictions for the past year. The demand for all descriptions of fancies is large, and Stocks which have been dead on the stock book for several months are bid for every day at alvancing prices. Norwich Scrip, which was, a few days since, dull at 49, was in demand at 52, which is equal to only $37 P share, as there are $15 unpaid, which is deducted from the price. The teaffic of this Road shows about 15 $\psi$ cent increase upon last year, while the running expenses have been materially reduced. It paid a dividend of 21 P cent out of the earnings of the six months ending 31st May, and will pay 3 P cent. for the six months ending 30th November next. All but about 1,500 shares have been subscribed on and made Preferred Stock, under the Legislative au thority of last session, created for the purpose of paying off the debts of the Company coming due previous to 1855. The Secarities of Illinois continued to be in good demand, and the bids advanced. Harlem shows a further improvement of by cent, the arrangement for extending the Road from Dover Plains to the Western Railroad being considered as a highly advantageous one. The new Road, under the arrangement, will have no lien upon the old Road, but depends entirely upon its own receipts for its running expenses and interest fund. This gives the present Haclem Road a direct connection with Albany and the entire North, from which connection it will receive a large accession of business, while it is not encumbered by any claim upon it for interest or dividends. It will, in fact, stand in the same relation to the new Road as it does to the New-Haven Road. The extension is to be completed by next Autumn, in time for the Albany Winter business The receipts must be largely increased by thus becoming a link in the important chain of Roads, instead of being isolated, with one terminus nowhere. Reading advanced ? V cent. and was in demand. Eric advanced 2 P cent the earning of the month promising to be even larger than were anticipated. The Bonds of this Company also advanced, and, under large sales, the market was very firm at the close. The Second Mortgages were 98% and the Incomes 90%, one lot of $30,000 of the latter selling at the Second Board, bought on a foreign order. This price shows 31 to cent, advance this week, and the demand is larger now than when the price was 86. It has been an invariable occurrence with the Bonds of this Company that they have at first declined from the taking price and then rapidly advanced much beyond it. There was a good inquiry for State and Government Stocks, partly for banking purposes. Higher prices were bid w thout bringing out any lots. For $50,000 Government 6s, 1867 116, seller sixty days, offered. The sales at the Second board were to greatfextent, nearly equalling the

The first instalment, amounting to about o be hundred and twenty thousand dollars, was paid at , he American Exchange Bank on Tuesday last-The capital of this Bank is five hundred thousand dollars and the intention was to commence business with three hundred thousand dollars, but already, wi 'hout "opening any books" or making any public call for subscriptions to its stock, the officers of the Bank and their friends have taken about three hundred and sixty thousand dollars-The next instalns, 'nt is due on the 17th of October, and will be received at the Banking House, corner past. The waters had subsided, and the wet diggings were very profitable. Many of the dams had proved highly successful. Some passengers that we conversed with express the opinion that California will send us, in the next four months, more gold than she has ever done in the same period of time. The next steamer, it is believed, will bring from a million and a half to two millions of dollars in dust. The general estimate is three millions a month for the next four months. At San Francisco the Money market was very active at 8 P cent P month-The failure of Mr. Barton of Bacramento for over a million of dollars had created some sensation, although not unexpected. He shows essets to the amount of $2,000,000. Gold dust was in demand at $16 @ $16 25. Exchange on New-York par, on Lordon 84 88 ♥ pound. State Loan 70 @75, City

No injects cloud necked the clear sapphire sky.

Oh, deat remember how the sun that morning
Rece like a god his course, and from on high Looked his proud smile, vouchsefed for earth's adorning?

Dost thou remember how the woods were hushed,

Remember us ! for we have gone afar,

Remember us I the substitue will come track—
I pray, to herald the more bleat affection—
And if the shadows spread along thy track,
Think: without sunlight they have no reflection!
Wild storms are glorious—or if they dash
Thy best hopes to and fro in dreat commotion,
See! midst the tempest and the thunder-crash
Even the far dasthy unrise the pearls of coast!
